

Our company

The 4a Group is engaged in new technologies in the fields of mobility, communication, and traffic and vehicle safety. The core competence for the development is the profound understanding of materials, composites, lightweight construction and mechatronics and their application, in the development of products for our customers.

IT-Administrator (m/f/d)

You are the first point of contact when something isn't working — and the person behind the scenes who keeps our infrastructure, servers, and networks running smoothly. Whether you are more inclined toward the helpdesk or prefer diving deeper into system administration, you will find room for both at our company.
